

5 Secrets of Football Betting

First, do not put blindly, simply hoping for an attractive ratio. Luck is a very slippery thing, and counting on it is very risky! Sooner or later it will take away all your money from you! You have to place clever bets to win.

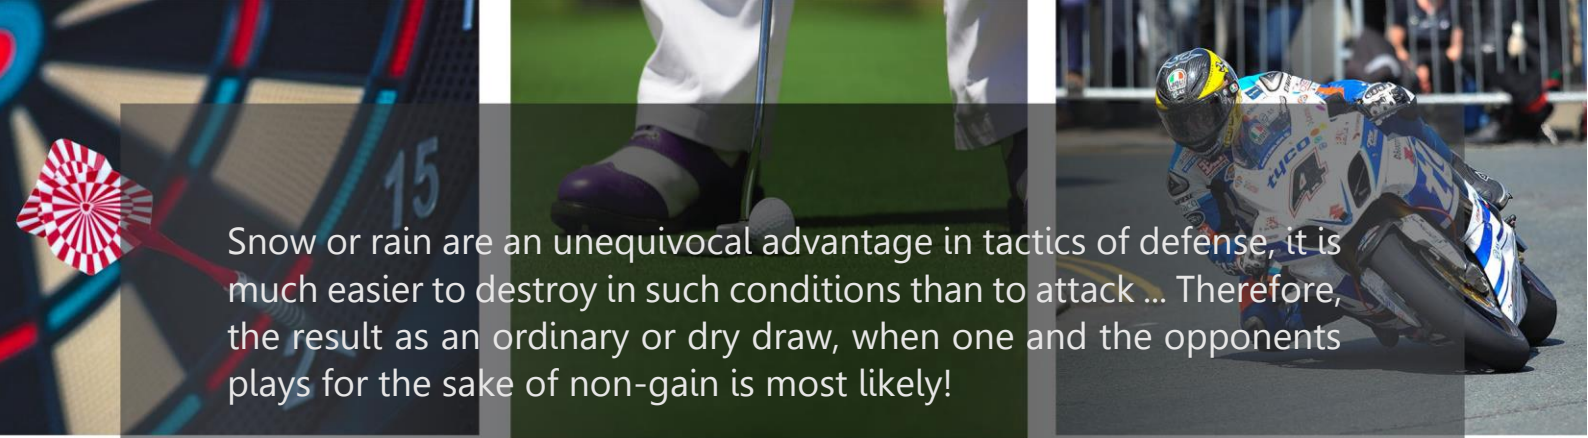

- Always look at the statistics, analyze the past games and, if possible, the news regarding the situation inside both teams.
- Most often, the stakes incorrectly determine the current state of affairs at a given time, but just based on the rating, popularity or position of the club in the standings.
- However, the team may be on the decline, it may have disqualified or injured key players, etc.!

Secondly, in nature there are no 100% winning rates, as well as 100% confidence in the result of the match!

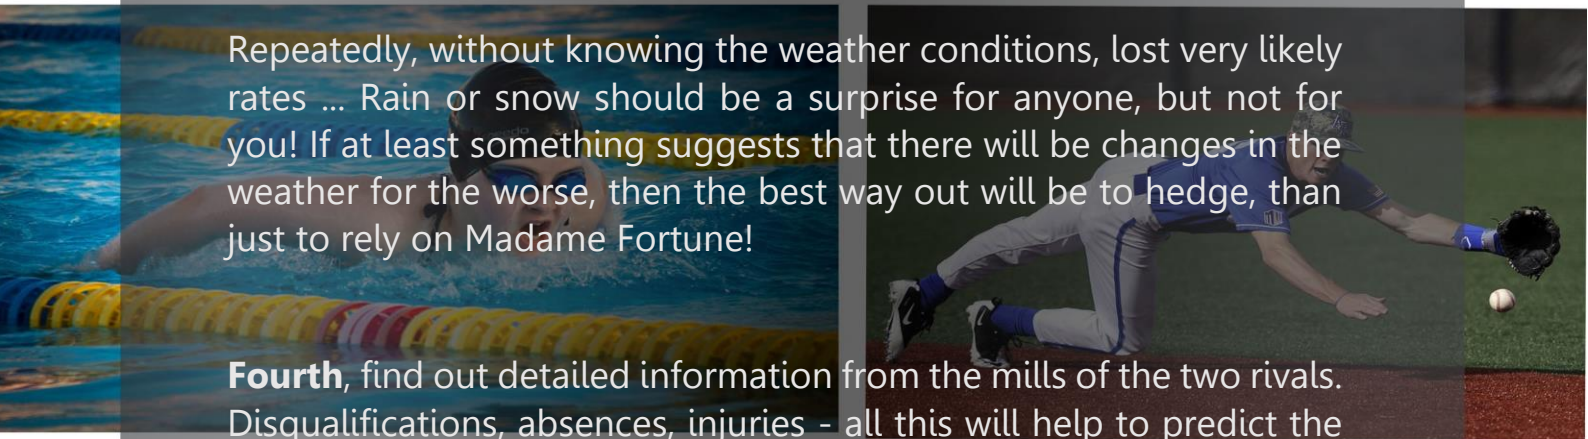

Try to identify for yourself what MAXIMUM, what can be - it's 90-95% confidence in the result of the game (this is the highest probability, and often it does not exceed 50%). 100% can never be! If such a thought is in your head, then you need to do everything to make it disappear ... Find the prerequisites to the fact that such a result may simply not happen ... Find a weak place that is always there!

Thirdly, do not be lazy to find out the weather, which is supposed to be on the day of the game. It plays a very important role, for example, in football and, knowing about the weather conditions, you can expect an approximate flow of the game of both teams.

Snow or rain are an unequivocal advantage in tactics of defense, it is much easier to destroy in such conditions than to attack ... Therefore, the result as an ordinary or dry draw, when one and the opponents plays for the sake of non-gain is most likely!

Repeatedly, without knowing the weather conditions, lost very likely rates ... Rain or snow should be a surprise for anyone, but not for you! If at least something suggests that there will be changes in the weather for the worse, then the best way out will be to hedge, than just to rely on Madame Fortune!

Fourth, find out detailed information from the mills of the two rivals. Disqualifications, absences, injuries - all this will help to predict the outcome as accurately as possible, and, in turn, correctly place your money!

- If there was a disqualification or injury to the supporting midfielders or defenders, then this in itself speaks of possible problems in the defense and potential missed goals.
- If the disqualification or injury was the main player of the attack or the team captain, then the question arises: will the players be able to score, what will they rearrange in the tactics of the game, will they be able to implement a standard that will lead them forward.
- However, if the main performer of the standards has been traumatized or disqualified, this may also make you think. Thus, try to learn as much as possible the future state of the players.

Fifth, do not bet on the dry victory of the club, going to play on someone else's field.
